MR. FAYERWEATHER'S WILLS

HE HAD A CODICIL IN MIND REFORE HE SIGNED NO. 4.

rent to Evarts, Choate & Beaman, Not to Arnoux, Ritch & Woodford, to Have It Drawn, but Excented No. 4 Instead. In the Surrogate's Court yesterday was fairly Paverweather, the leather merchant who left ons to colleges and after providing in moderation for his wife and several nextfof kin leaving unconditionally the residue of his estate, considerably over $3,000,000, to his three executors. The executors are Thomas G. Ritch, whose law partner drew the will; Henry B. Vaughan, and Justus L. Bulkley. Since the will was made public it has been announced that the executors hold a part of this residuary estate under a private trust for distribution with the rest of the estate among the colleges. Mrs. Fayerweather maintains that her husband was anduly influenced to make his executors residuary legatees.

The case promises to be long and sensa-tional. In the cross-examination resterday of witnesses for the will it came out that Mr. will a few days before his death, and that for that purpose, although Arnoux, Bitch & Woodford were his lawyers, he had applied to the law firm of Evarts, Choate & Beaman. The executors of the will were represented by Armoux, Ritch & Woodford, John E. Parsons, J. Holden, and Daniel G. Rollins represented

A. Holden, and Daniel G. Rollins represented the contestants, and counsel appeared for the beneficiary colleges and hospitals.

Mr. Aincux called the witnesses of the will. They were Heley Fiske. Bradford W. Hitcheook, and Charles L. Foster, all lawyers, and when the will was signed on Oct. 6, 1884, they were all connected with the firm of Arnoux, Bitch & Woodford.

Mr. Fiske is now a member of the firm. He testified that he knew Mr. Fayerweather as a client of the firm. He did not know who drew the will, but he had heard that the last coddil was the work of Gen. Woodford. The original will was in he handwriting of Mr. Waters, at that time a clerk in the office. The will was gigned in the room occupied by Mr. Ritch and Mr. Fiske at the firm's offices, 18 Wall street.

Mr. Fiske and that until he was called upon to witness it he only knew in a general way that Mr. Fayerweather was going to leave some of his property to colleges. Mr. Fayerweather handed him the will and asked him to witness it. What became of the will later he did not know.

Mr. Hitchcook testified that about ten years before the will was aigned Mr. Fayerweather weather handed him the will and asked him to witness it. What became of the will later he did not know.

Mr. Hitchcock testified that about ten years before this will was signed Mr. Fayerwenther galled upon his father, the Rev. Dr. Roswell D. Hitchcock to ask his advice about bequests that he wanted to make. Mr. Hitchcock did not know who made the original draft of the will, but he supposed that Mr. Fayerweather had consulted Mr. Ritch about it. Mr. Hitchcock and his father went out to lunch with Mr. Ritch a few days before the will was drawn, and the boquests to the different colleges were then discussed. The Rev. Dr. Hitchcock had suggested several changes in this list, and these changes appeared in the will. When Mr. Fayerweather came to the office to sign the will Mr. Hitchcock was simply called into Mr. Ritch's room to witness it. He knew nothing about the contents.

Charles L. Foster, the third witness of the will, said that after it had been executed and pefore he had left the room Mr. Ritch wrote a few lines on letter paper, which Mr. Fayerweather signed. This paper was then folded up in the will.

Mr. Arnoux presented this paper in evidence.

Arnoux presented this paper in evidence. DARREL B. PAVERWEATERS.

The writing was identified as that of Mr. litch, and the signature was declared to be Ritch, and the signature was declared to be genuine.

When the will had been offered in evidence Mr. Arnoux called Gen, Stewart L. Woodford to the stand. Gen. Woodford was the first witness to the first codicil. He said that the will and codicils were in Mr. Fayerweather's house at the time of his death. "Some time in November. 1890, I think," said Gen. Woodford, "Mr. Ritch told me that Mr. Fayerweather had sent to our office for his will and codicils."

"Did Mr. Ritch ever make more than one remark of that kind?"

"Gen. Woodford could not say, but thought that Mr. Ritch maght have done so, Mr. Rollins asked if Mr. litch had not on one occasion sent the original will to Mr. Fayerweather, in which Mr. Ritch was not benefited, and if Mr. Fayerweather had not sent back a messenger demanding his whole will, and if Mr. Ritch had not said to the winess, with some trepidation, that Mr. Fayerweather wanted the codicils also.

Gen. Woodford said that that distinctly did not cour, Didl Mr. Ritch tell you that he had gone with the codicile to Mr. Fayerweather's house?"
"He did not," said den. Woodford.
Gen. Woodford said that he had ravised the draft of the will and of the first and second codicils. The fourth codicil he had drawn himself. A codicil similar to the second, except that it did not exampt the executors from giving bonds, had been drawn by him and destroyed in the presence of Mr. Fayerweather.
"Do you know of a codicil other than these propounded for probate that was executed in Movember last?" asked Mr. Rollins.
Gen. Woodford hesitated for a moment, and said:

"I will neither deny nor affirm such knowl-"I will neither deny nor affirm such knowledge. I am willing to tell the Court all that I know personally, but since this action was begun some things have been told to me professionally, and I do not think I am required to divulge them."

"Who were your clients," seked Mr. Rollins, "The executors of the Payerweather estate,"
"And one of them was Mr. Ritch?"
"Certainly," answered Gen. Woodford, rather curtiv.

eurtly.

Mr. Ritch ended the discussion about Gen.
Woodford's right to give any evidence about the other codicil by saying:

1. I have nothing to conceal in this matter, and Gen. Woodford is free to give this evidence."

Gen. Woodford then said that he had heard that Mr. Fayerweather, a few days before his death, had gone to the law offices of Evarts. Choste & Beaman and that there had been drawn there a codicil or testamentary document of some sort. He did not know the character of it, but presumed that it had never been executed.

acter of it, but presumed that it had never been executed.

"Did you know or were you advised of the extent of the residuary estate of Mr. Fayer-weather?" asked Mr. Solline.

"I did not, but I called Mr. Fayerweather's attention to the possibility that the residuary bequest might be rendered invalid, as I feit it was my duty to do so."

Gen. Woodford volunteered the statement that Mr. Fayerweather had said that his wife would not dream of contesting his will.

would not dream of contesting his will.

"Well." observed ex-Surrogate Rollins, "she seems to have dreamed lately, notwithstanding his prophecy."

Gen. Woodford's further examination was postponed until Wednesday morning, when the case will be continued.

The Craiser Newark in Commission

PHILADELPHIA. Feb. 2.—The new steel cruiser Newark formally went into commission to-day at Cramp's shippard as a man-of-war of th United States Government. Capt. Silas Casey. per commander, in the presence of the entire new lof the vessel, read the order from the Secretary of the Navy ordering the Newark into commission. The simple ceremony was completed by the hoisting of the national flag at the fore and stern. The Newark will be fitat the fore and stern. The Newark will be fitged out here, the orders transferring her to Brooklyn for that purpose having been resciaded. The acceptance of the Newark completes tramp's first contracts for the new navy, the others being the Yorktown. Vesuvius, Haltimore, and Philadelphia. On each of these vessels the builders received a premium, sither for excess of speed or horse power. Two other cruisers are now building at Gramp's, and two more will soon be started, the fotal amount of work under contract there for the United States Government being over $11,000,000.

Assemblyman Demarest's Troubles. NYACE, Feb. 2.—The troubles of Assemblyman Frank P. Demarest, accused by Tax Collector Gurdineer of Upper Nysck of forgery and embezziement, have led to new complications in the school district, where the Union Steamboat Company paid taxes. Although the company has received from Demarest the sompany has received from Demarest the amount of the embezzlement, nearly $8,000, it has not yet paid its taxes. Hence the school treasury has been exhausted for many months, and Principal Andrew Jersey and the subordinate teachers caused get their wages. The true inwariness of the position of the company is that it is forcing others to do the prosecuting of Demarest, when the work should fall on the company's shoulders. On Monday the hall will again open in the Grand Jury toom. Demarest's conferences with Neats friends are all by night. He has rurely been seen here by day since he was arrested.

Al Dargett's Assets Sold.

ANSONIA. Conn., Feb. 2.-The assets of Al Daggett, postal card contractor, who is insolvent, were sold to-day by order of the Probate Court. They were the machinery in the postal card factory, and brought $1,700. They were tought by H. E. Townsend. Mr. Daggett's representative in the works, and were probably bought in for him.

THEY DO NOT BLANK YOUNG HARRIS. Miss Relen Potts's Parents Take Mor

The remains of Miss Helen Potts, who died on Sunday at the Comstock School in West Fortieth street, were taken yesterday to her father's home at Asbury Park. No autopsy had been made. The doctors seem to be agreed that the prescription containing morphine which Medical Student Carlyle Harris gave her would have done no harm had her heart been sound; and that it is not safe to prescribe morphine without ascertaining first if there is heart disease.

Coronor Schultze said that he did not feel justified in taking any steps against Harris. The composition of the remaining pills is to be ascertained, so that it may be learned whether the quinine and morphine were properly mixed, and it may be that at the inquest the law governing the prescription of dangerous drugs by medical students and the compounding of such prescriptions by druggists will be gone Into.

The mixture he prescription between the store of the reservation of their was no question at all about his right to buy if he wanted to.

"In case Miss Potts had presented the prescription berself and asked to have it illied would she have received the medicine?" asked the reporter.

"That would have depended on the circumstances," said Mr. McIntyre, "She would have been questioned about the nature of her complaint and if she knew the effect of the drugs. If her answers were satisfactory, it is probable that the prescription would have been filled." At the College of Physicians and Surgeons it was said that nearly all medical students practice medicine on themselves and their friends. They prescribe for little complaints. They do not violate the law, because they do not charge any money. It is the same with them as it is with the old fadies who recommend various remedies for manifold complaints.

Askur Park, Feb. 2.—A number of young women who had been fellow members with Miss Potts of the Sigma Zeta Bodesty of the High School here, were at the station when the train came in bearing the coffin at 6 ociock this evening. They shed tears as the coffin was carried from the train. The funeral will be on Thursday afternoon. Leroy Penwarden. a cousin of the dead girl, stated that her parents did not blame young Harris for her death. Carlyle W. Harris is well known to the summer cottagers and hotel guests of Asbury Park and Ocean Grove. He is a handsome young fellow and smart enough to even set the best of some of the New Jerseymen in business iransactions which honoried the Neptune Club to evade the operation of the blue laws which control the town. He bired the three-story building at 223 Cookman avenue, near Ralphy C when informed in the negative inquired if he did not want to join. Joy said "Yes." and Harris said:

"All right, you are a member now."

Joy also testified that one Sunday he went to the club rooms with three friends and in a room on the second floor had a game of poker and several rounds of drinks, for which the proprietor received pay. Joy also said he had seen women in the rooms on the third floor, accompanied by men, drinking as late as 10 o'clock in the evening. He "got full" several times getting evidence.

The prisoners' lawyers maintained that only members were admitted to the rooms, and that the club was legally incorporated. Harris and his two assistants were held to await the action of the Graud Jury. They were in the town lockup several days before Harris and Prescott secured ball, and Sayler was sent to the county iall. At the October term the three men were indicted on charges of illegal liquor selling and keeping a disorderly house. The trial has been postponed from time to time because of the illness of young Harris. The last adjournment was to Thursday, March 6.

When the subpurpas for the witnesses were issued they contained the name of Charles W. Harkness and not Carlyle W. Harris. The woung medical student also furnished bonds under the name of Harkness. The records of the office of County Clerk Haight of the county of Monmouth show that the certificate of incorporation of the Neptune Club was filed on June 26 last. It is signed by William F, Smith of Plainfied as President, and Carlyle W. Harris Secretary and Tressurer. The document sets forth that "This club is sesociated for social, intellectual, and recreative purposea." Among the members were many business men of Asbury Park and a number of the town officials.

RACE TRACK MEN DISAGREE

An Opinion That Winter Racing Will Have to Be Given Up.

TRENTON, Feb. 2.-Representatives of all the race tracks in the State were here to-night, and they held a conference regarding the bill that is to be introduced in the Legislature to legalize bookmaking and regulate the sport generally.

It is learned that they have been wrangling among themselves for weeks, owing to the unwillingness of the managers of the winter tracks to consent to an act which must interfere with their business. The Monmouth Park as well as the Linden and Elizabeth associaas well as the Linden and Elizabeth associations, are desirous of limiting the sport to thirty, or, at the outside, forty days in the year. It is said that a committee of five, representing the several tracks in the State, waited upon took, abbett this evening and laid before him the nature of their difficulties.

The Governor is reported to have said that under no consideration would be sanction a measure in favor of winter racing. Several bills have been drafted for consideration by the race-track people, but all have been rejected.

The idea prevails here that a bill will ultimately pass permitting bookmaking under restrictions and racing at any period of the year excenting during the months of November, December, January, and February.

IN THE PASHIONABLE WORLD Mrs. Theodore Havemeyer Opens Her E modeled House With a Ball,

One of the most beautiful private balls of the winter was given last night by Mrs. Theodore Havemeyer, at her residence 244 Madison avenue, for her two young daughters. Miss Marie and Miss Blanche Havemeyer. The entertain-ment was also in the nature of a housewarmthrown open to society since it has remodelled and since the new ball-has been added. The nallway was massed with spring flowers, and Lan-der's musicians were hidden behind a screen der's musicians were hidden behind a screen of American Beauty roses. The white and gold ballroom was dressed with white roses and Annunciation lilies, and over the windows were garlands of white roses wound about white satin ribbon. The entire house was thrown open, and before the dancing began there was music by the Hungarian Band, whose members were stationed in the hallway on the second floor. Supper wa served at small lables in the dining room.

The guestic were received by Mis. Havemeyer, who wore white satin with garniture of point lace and tuile. She was assisted by Mrs. Charles F. Havemeyer, who wore a tollet of white satin made with a Louis XVI. coat, and trimmed with pow knots of pearls and lace.

office under the roof of the Equitable building yesterday, and when he had had an hour or two of such greetings he went home to recover his strength. The Horgeant is pale and very much reduced by his long illness, but he is thoroughly convalescent, and he expects to be as good as new in a few wocks.

When he reached his office yesterday, he found a big cold wave booming along at us from the northwest. It had a high barometer with it and it was making the thermometers out of sight between 12 and 36 degrees below zero. Now, Sergeant Dunn long age figured it Biewitt Is Not.

Judge McAdam of the Superior Court set aside yesterday the order granted by him, upon affidavits of experies committing ex-Alderman Peter Kehr as a lunatic. He did this upon the application of Charles Steckler, who presented an affidavit by Mr. Kehr in which he states that he has been a manufacturer of deaks for forty years, that he is sound mentally and physically, and has never been otherwise, and that he is perfectly rational and clear headed. Engelhart has known kehr for twenty years, and Stauf, the son-in-law of James Slewitt, the Consolidated Exchange broker who was recently declared a lunatic, to be restored to his rights and property on the ground that he is now sane. off, and that to-day it would be line ice-making weather.

Sergeant Dunn wasn't feeling very well, but he thought he would try his hand in the emergency. So be trotted out a low pressure influence from his newly irrigated region just east of the Bookies and started it at a fair pace direct for Chicago. It got there first, and when the cold wave came along the warm low area forced it across the northern lakes and over Canada toward the ocean. So New York may expect to-day very much such a day as we had yeaterday. At all events it won't be much colder, and toward night it may get cloudy again, for the low barometer area is gathering moisture as it comes east.

One Lymph Patient Bend and Another at the Point of Beath, New Haven, Conn., Feb. 2. - George M. Bradley, who was the first patient in this country to receive the lymph inoculation, died yesterday, and the son of Prof. Blake, another lymph patient, who has been under treatment for nearly two months, is at the point of death. Bradley was a little over 80 years of age, and was not in an advanced stage of consumption when he began receiving treatment. Prewhen he began receiving treatment. Previously he was not confined to the house, but during his treatment he has been. During the past few weeks he suffered intensely, as the treatment had a distressing effect upon his throat making it difficult and extremely painful for him to take any nourishment. His physicians say that his death was undoubtedly hastened by the condition of his throat, as his strength disappeared very fast because of his insbillity to take food. He had been receiving injections since early in December.

Prof. R. H. Chittenden of Yale, who received the first supply of lymph from Dr. Koch, and who had charge of the New Haven patients, asid of the death of firstley:

"I cannot see how Bradiey's death can have any effect upon the value or use of lymph. It is perhase natural that the public will at first look upon it as showing the fallure of the lymph, but among decotors and people who will consider it intelligently I cannot see how it can have any effect. The case was a particularly bad one for the use of the lymph. One of the man's lungs was nearly gone and the other was in bad condition. He was also suffering from laryngitis, and it was for this that the lymph had some remote effect upon the lungs, but I don't think that it hastened his death." viously he was not confined to the house, but

THE SOUTHERN REPUBLIOS. The Germans in Brazil-Items From Guate

Many German immigrants to Brazil have, within recent times, been settling in parts of the country that they have found unhealthy or otherwise undesirable, and the consequence has been unfavorable to the growth of an element of the population that is highly advantageous to the country. The question has been brought under the notice of the Berlin Government by the representatives of Germany in Brazil, and the Brazilian authorities are desirous of removing all cause of complaint. Hereafter German immigrants will be encouraged to settle in two or three of those provinces of the Eastern seaboard that are the most suitable for them. There is news at Rio Janeiro that Austria has joined the other powers of Europe in recognizing the republic of Brazil and establishing diplomatic relations with its Government. A number of enterprising American firms have recently been pushing their way into the provinces of Brazil, and their experience may be of service in New York. It is necessary that the agents of American manufacturers should fully understand the Brazilian markets before making shipments there. SOCIAL LIFE IN WASHINGTON. Ball of the Dumblane Hunt Club-A Bridal WASHINGTON, Feb. 2.- The ball given by the nbers of the Dumbiane Hunt Club to-night in the spacious pariors of Wormley's Hotel was a brilliant event. The floral decorations of the rooms were on an elaborate scale. The front bay window was arranged to represent a woodland seene, with a fox emerging from the brush. Overhead an arch of green was illuminated by red and white electric lights, forming the letters of the name "Dumblane Hunt," Beneath this stood the ladies of the re-ceiving party, Mrs. D. P. Morgan. Mrs. Leiter, and Mrs. May, and facing the wide arch of the entrance into the adjoining department, com-pletely hidden beneath laurel leaves, banked on either side by white blossoms, with the letters "D. There is a collection of inneral tickets, several thousand in number, dating back to 1812, loaned by J. M. Duff. This collection was made by Cyrus Jones, a colored man, who at his death left them with his niece. Mrs. Mary Jones, for Mr. Duff. In Juffinent of a promise of long standing. This collection embraces the names of hundreds of persons who have long since faded from the memory of their fellows, Among the portraits is one of Gen. John H. Morgan, the noted Confederate chieftain, surrounding which are the pistols, sword, saddle, and spurs used by him when on his raids. The collection of horse portraits is superb. The portrait of Lexington is considered the best likeness of that celebrated horse, and it is valued at several thousand dollars. The other noted horse ictures on exhibition represent Rurle. Boston, Virgil, Kentucky, Bonnets of Blue idam of Lightning), and many others.

A Hunt for Lost Stock Certificates There was a wild hunt in the Northern Paeific office yesterday in the Mills building for two lost certificates of stock, each for 100 shares. They could not be found, and as a shares. They could not be found, and as a last resort all the sweepings from the entire building in the last week were gone over. These sweepings are in the cellar of the building, and to overhaul them the services of several young men were required. They prosecuted the search all last night. A shorttime ago a certificate for 100 shares of Louisville and Nashville, then worth $9,000, was lost in the building and the sweepings had to be gone over at that time. The certificate was found.

Excitement in the Pasteur Institute.

A man from Brooklyn went to the Pasteur Institute yesterday to be treated for hydro-phobia. He had been bitten on the hand nearly three months ago by a dog that subsenearly three months ago by a dog that subsequently disappeared. The wound healed and no further attention was paid to it until last saturday, when he fell in a fit. His friends took him to Dr. Gibler.

While the man was waiting in Dr. Gibler's office he was seized with a fit and dropped to the floor. There was a panio in the waiting room. When Dr. Gibler arrived he attributed the fits to causes other than bydrophobia and sent the man to the New York Hospital.

THE BEHRING SEA CASE.

Motion of Counsel for the British Govern-ment Granted by the Supreme Court,

WASHINGTON, Feb. 2.-Chief Justice Fuller to-day announced that the Supreme Court had decided to grant the petition of the counsel representing the British Government for leave to file an application for a writ of prohibition to prevent the District Court of Alaska proceeding to carry out its decree of forfeiture, made in the case of the schooner Sayward, libelled for unlawfully taking avals within the libelled for unlawfully taking seals within the waters of Behring Sea. The Court asked counsel at what date the rule requiring the Alaska Court to come here and show cause why the writ of prohibition should not issue abould be made returnable. The Rolicitor-General of the United States was anxious to have it made returnable at the earliest possible date, as was Mr. Calderon Carlisle, junior counsel for the parties who bring the case here, and by mutual agreement the rule was made returnable the second Alonday in April.

This settles merely the preliminary question of the right to bring the case into court, and the matter now to be settled is whether the Court will decide that the writ of prohibition abould issue. There must now be an argument on the merits of the Behring Sea controversy. In announcing the determination of the Court, the Unief Justice said that argument had taken a much wider range than was necessary, and that the Court was cominion that it had jurisdiction by way of prohibition, under section 688. Revised-Statutes, to review the proceedings of the Alaska court.

The action of the court was somewhat of a surprise to the Department of Justice, as Artorney-General Miller and Bolicitor Tast had expressed the opinion that the court would decide that it had no jurisdiction. Secretary Blains, while not admitting that he entertained a like view, said to-day that he is not at all displeased with the decision of the court, as he thinks it indicates a desire on its part to be strictly impartial and allow the British Government the widest possible latitude in its effort to get the case before the court, secretary Blaine, moreover, would be pleased if the entire question involved in the flaberies negotiations could be discussed and decided in the court, he would be gaid to have such an arbitrator, not only on the question involved in the special in the Alaskan court, as to whether the United States has jurisdiction beyond the three-mile limit, but on the whole acope of the dispute in all its bearings. The A waters of Behring Sea. The Court asked counsel at what date the rule requiring the JAY GOULD'S SOUTHERN TRIP.

Labor and Wages.

The car washers, section hands, engine wipers, and lamp cleaners of the railroads centreing in Boston at a meeting on Sunday voted to make an effort to secure a uniform wage of $1.75 per day. They constitute an assembly of the Knights of Labor.

About twenty weavers struck work at the Hargreaves Mill, in Fall River, yesterday morning, alleging low wages as the cause. A delegation from their number waited on Agent Borden, but no satisfactory settlement was reached. The first annual convention of the Stonemasons' International Union of the United States and Canada was opened in Syracuse Festerday. There are about forty delegates present, from sixteen States and Canada and States and Canada was opened in Syraouse yesterday. There are about forty delegates present from sixteen States and Canada and more are expected.

The puddlers of the Brooke Iron Company at Birdshoro, Pa. have refused to accept the proposed reduction of 25 cents, from $3.75 to $3.50 per ton. and the rolling mill was closed down yesterday morning. The stopping of work in the rolling mill also necessitated the closing of the nail factory. About $50 hands are thrown out of work.

The iron works of the Ellis & Lessig Steel and Iron Company, in Pottsville, shut down yesterday morning throwing 700 men out of work, the bay roll for whom amounted to about $22,000 per month. This action was taken because of a contemplated reduction in the wages of puddlers of from $4 to $3.50 a ton. to go into effect yesterday. The men objected to this reduction on the ground that it was 23 cents a ton lower than the other companies of Pottsville were paying. They offered to accept $3.75, which the company refused to grant. The price paid for puddling in leading is $4 per ton. In Pittsburgh the price is $5 and $5.50 per ton.

Twenty tallors employed by Louis Daniels at 15 Mott street, hoston, struck yesterday. Their grievance is the refusal of Daniels to pay them for a full day's work when they work only nine hours on Saturday.

After a conference with the proprietors of the Rancy & Berger blast furnace in Newcastle, Pa., the workmen agreed to accept the reduction of 10 cents a day for labor and 15 cents for twelve hour turn men. The present rate of wages will be resumed when it is thought the iron market will justify it. This is the first furnace in Newcastle where the reduction has been accepted.

The second conference of the miners and oke operators of miner presented a formal demand to the mine workers' scale committee personnoling declined to consider, and advanced arguments in support of the reasonableness of their demands for a 12% per cent increase. The sonference will mest again to-day.
